List of Learning Objectives

Instructor: Robert Sunderman
       Associate Professor of Design & Technical Theatre
       Iowa State University Theatre

Date: 9/10/14

255 Introduction to theatrical production

The students will leave the class having learned....

- To choose the appropriate tools and equipment to use for specific construction techniques.
- To calculate time allotted deadlines vs quality.
- To select and identify the basic painting techniques and tool for scenic painting.
- To define and describe all the individual personel that exists in a theatre production.
- To explain the quality/use/concept of light for theatre and the tools to achieve a lighting designer's concept.
- To identify all the different architectural styles of theatre buildings, their use and functional properties.
- To recognize all of a production company's job titles and list what they do within the theatrical world.
- To identify all components a theatre company's organizational structure.
- Discover how many different areas, amount of time and the complexity of theatre production.
- How to construct a costume using fundamental techniques.
- To develop and design the basic components that make up scenic and costume design for theatre.
- To make constructive decisions from creative concept to reality.